How it works

Teams are given a zone of a model city to build The teams collaborate to develop a plan for the city ensuring there is uniformity of design across the zones and that roads, rivers, etc. flow coherently with the other teams' sections next to theirs and in the city as a whole. Using a wide ranging materials, they build an imaginative and creative city that is functional and aesthetically pleasing. When the time is up, teams join the sections of the city together and celebrate their success in working towards a common goal.

Learning outcomes

In City Build teams work to develop a common vision and a shared strategy which they put into place applying creativity and excellent project management skills. Planning and strategy through effective cross team communication and collaboration are essential to ensure the zones of the city interconnect and flow. Resource and time management are also essential to completing the project on time. Participants are motivated and inspired by successfully working towards a common goal.
